

THE WHIG STANDARD.

"Flag of the free! thy folds shall fly,
The sign of hope and triumph nigh."

FOR PRESIDENT,
HENRY CLAY,
OF KENTUCKY.

WASHINGTON.

THURSDAY EVENING, NOV. 23, 1843.

DANIEL WEBSTER.

The disgusting clamor that was raised by the small order of politicians about the Andover speech has no sooner subsided, than the next thing we hear is a report that Rufus Choate is to resign his seat in the Senate, and Mr. Webster is to take his place. Is there then but one man in Massachusetts? Can such idolatry exist in this enlightened age, and among the most intelligent people of this country, and can it cause its votaries to stoop so degradingly low? We never will believe it. We never will believe that the upright and independent Whig members of the Massachusetts legislature, whatever array of wealth, or dignity, or power may be brought to bear upon them, can be bribed, or coerced, or intimidated into the consummation of a measure, calculated to reflect such deep dishonor upon them, and their party throughout the country. What is Daniel Webster's political position? Let him declaim as loudly as he may that he is a Whig, a Massachusetts Whig, a Faneuil Hall Whig, a Bunker Hill Whig—let him qualify his whiggery by the reiteration of what opinions and principles he may—all this does but make more unpardonable and glaring his apostasy. He is a Whig! He is still hand and glove with those who administer this Government, between whom and them, the Whigs of Massachusetts, assembled in State Convention, solemnly declared an eternal separation. Will the truth of this assertion be questioned? We will support it with incontrovertible facts. He has one son in the China Embassy—another, in the N. E. Boundary Commission;—he has nephews in office, east and west—and he has a subservient tool at the head of the New York Customhouse; and now, in his own language, if he abandons Mr. Tyler, "where are all these to go?" He has not abandoned John Tyler—nay more, we firmly believe that he is pledged, with Spencer and Tyler, to exert his utmost power to break down his great and magnanimous rival, HENRY CLAY, and seeks a position where he will have the best opportunity to continue his treason to the Whig party. We have been silent but close observers of the whole Webster movement; we have seen the presses in his interest chronicle his arrivals and departures while journeying to and from Washington; we have seen how studiously they have contrived to keep him in the public eye; we noted the manner in which the Andover affair was gotten up—how carefully and widely the fact was promulgated, that Mr. Webster was to make a great speech, and how it was sought to put every one upon the qui vive to catch his gracious revelations; and what can be gathered from that voluminous compound of political egotism, save that "by the blessing of God, nobody should deprive him of being a Whig, and voting for Mr. Briggs?" This was all. Not a lurking regret for the past mischief he had wrought upon the Whig party, and no sign of a promise of future amendment. The presses who have condemned Mr. Webster's attempt to vault into the leading position he once occupied in the Whig ranks, have been satisfied with this, and dealt too tenderly with his subsequent effrontery. The result is, that another feeler is now put out in the shape of "a report" that Mr. Choate is to resign, and Mr. Webster is to take his place. In such hot haste is Mr. Webster, "by the blessing of God," to be a Whig Senator again, that even the common decency of pretending to consult the Massachusetts legislature, not yet elected, and not to be convened until January, is forgotten. Mr. Choate is to resign, and not John Davis, not Levi Lincoln, not Leverett Saltonstall, but, Mr. Webster is to take his place.

Where he is, Mr. Webster can only sow dissension in Massachusetts; that he will do this, as far as he can, we are satisfied. He never will support HENRY CLAY. He has said so, and it is within our personal knowledge. These were his very words: "Mr. CLAY has too many heresies about him ever to gain my support for his election as President of the United States."

The Calhoun men of New York recommend that each Congressional district shall hold a convention of delegates from the several towns in the district in April next, whose duty it shall be to elect, or cause to be elected, a delegate to the National Convention at Baltimore in May next. Also that the delegates so chosen from the several Congressional districts shall meet in Tammany Hall on the 23d day of May next, and elect two delegates for the State at large.

DR. MALLORY.

Some friend of this unrewarded member of the Corporal's Guard, who calls himself an "anti-Wise man of Wise's district, but not a Clay man," is out with another long communication in the Richmond Enquirer about the Doctor, the mission to Constantople, Mr. Wise and Mr. Tyler. The editor says he held on to the communication some days, expecting that after the writer saw Dr. Mallory's card he would be disposed to withdraw it, but not having done so, it is published. This is significant. What a contemptible attitude does Dr. Mallory occupy now—that of a man who has sold his honor, and been cheated out of the price! The Dr.'s friend concludes thus:

"It would afford me great pleasure to inform the acting President who I am—but I shall, in all probability, have to 'catechise' him on the Russian Embassy, and his contract with Colonel Todd—and there being a possibility, that I shall see him in Washington during the approaching Congress, I propose to defer the matter until Mr. Wise shall be able to furnish his deposition, which will go, of course, to fix the matter of censure; and to release himself from his present unenviable attitude before this district. Dr. Mallory, I doubt not, carries himself rectus in curia, and with gallant bearing, despises duplicity from any quarter. Sirs, he never can become the flatterer of John Tyler, or of any other man—whether he be the acting President or the President elected by the people—and his voice from the tribune, would ever be in such language, as would make lower Virginia proud of her son—who, while he differed with others, honestly exercises politeness to all, says nothing but what is right, and accedes to nothing that is wrong!"

THE EXPLODED CALUMNY.

The Maysville Eagle says: Mr. Adams, in his address in the Presbyterian church of Maysville, in responding to the declaration of Gen. Collins, "that he, (Mr. Adams,) had placed Kentucky under deep and lasting obligations to him for his noble defence of her great statesman, in his letter to the Whigs of New Jersey," replied, as nearly as we can recollect, as follows:

"I thank you, sir, for the opportunity you have given me of speaking of the great statesman who was associated with me in the administration of the General Government, at my earnest solicitation—who belongs not to Kentucky alone, but to the whole Union; and is not only an honor to this State and this nation, but to mankind. The charges to which you refer, I have, after my term of service had expired, and it was proper for me to speak, denied before the whole country; and I there reiterated and reaffirm that denial; and as I expect shortly to appear before my God, to answer for the conduct of my whole life, should those charges have found their way to the Throne of Eternal Justice, I WILL, IN THE PRESENCE OF OMNIPOTENCE, PRONOUNCE THEM FALSE."

This solemn declaration of the venerable man, who must, in the course of nature, soon appear before the Judge of all, needs no comment.

MISSISSIPPI ELECTION.

The returns from this State are less encouraging than was to have been expected. The Whigs and bond-paying Democrats united have a majority in the vote for Governor, but Brown, the Locooco candidate, is probably elected. The Whigs offered no ticket for Congress, insisting that the election by general ticket was illegal. The Repudiators have probably carried their ticket, but by a greatly reduced majority from that of 1841.

We learn from the Albany Daily Advertiser, that a new species of ordinance has recently been invented, called the "Tyler Gun." The peculiarity consists in its being primed in the centre of the tube, and discharging its contents both ways at the same time.

Next year, says the Philadelphia Forum, will be leap year—Tyler will jump from the Presidential chair and somebody else will jump into it. The accident's luck hangs to him till the last leap year will give him the twenty-ninth of February, one extra day for his reign.

New Haven, Connecticut, elected on Monday her Whig ticket of town officers by 500 majority—larger than has been given in a town election for many years, if ever. Highest Whig vote, 994; highest Loco, 485—majority 509, which is very nearly the average. Good for New Haven.

Gen. John C. Crump (Whig) has been elected to the Senate of Virginia from the Norfolk District, to fill the vacancy occasioned in that body by the resignation of Col. James H. Langhorn.

Massacre of Missionaries.—A letter received in Paris from the Rev. Mr. Libois, Procurator of the Foreign Missions at Macao, China, states that his lordship Dr. Imbert, and Messrs. Chastan and Mauban, the former Vicar Apostolic, and the two latter French missionaries, were beheaded in the kingdom of Corea, in Asia, in the month of September, 1839. Seventy christian natives were also beheaded, and one hundred and eighty were strangled.

Great Clay gathering.—The Executive Committee of the Clay Club of this city have invited the Hon. Garret Davis, of Kentucky, to address the citizens of Ohio county, while en route to Washington, for the approaching session of Congress. He has consented to do so on or about the 30th inst., of which due notice will be given by handbills, when the exact day is learned. In the meantime we invite the Whigs of this and the adjacent counties in Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Ohio, to be prepared to attend. The eloquence of Mr. D. will be a sufficient inducement; but we learn that other eminent orators of the West will be present, and it will be the largest and most interesting mass meeting that has thus far been held. The time approaches—be prepared to attend, one and all!—Wheeling Times.

BY THIS MORNING'S MAIL.

MAINE.

Mr. Severance's majority is some 1300 over the Loco candidate, but only 400 over all. Mr. Morse (also Whig) is almost certainly elected by about 100 majority over all. In the two remaining districts, probably no choice, though Robinson, Whig, is clear ahead, so far, in the Seventh.

Florida.—An election has recently taken place in this State for a Legislative Council, in which we presume the Locos have succeeded, as usual. Leon county (in which is Tallahassee) has elected 3 Whigs; Gadsden, 1 Loco and 1 Independent, by close votes (229 to 187) over 2 Whigs; Jefferson, 2 Locos by 240 to 143 Whig; Madison, 1 Loco; Wakulla, 1 do.; Jackson, 1 Loco and 1 Whig.

Attempt to rob the Baltimore and Susquehanna Railroad Office.—Some daring burglar or burglars, whose object was of course to purloin money, entered the office of the Baltimore and Susquehanna Railroad Company, in North street, during last night or this morning. They made their entrance by forcing a back door, by which means they got into the office below. The ticket office was next entered, and all the desks, drawers, &c., in it broken open. They found only six coppers, which had been left in one of the small drawers, (and these were not taken,) all the other money having been safely deposited elsewhere. The baggage room was also entered. In it were a number of trunks, three of which were forced, and the contents strewn over the floor. The office on the second story was next thoroughly ransacked, every desk and drawer in it having been forced open, and the papers and other articles scattered in disorder about the room. Failing to secure any booty in these efforts, an attempt was made to enter the money vault, by forcing a hole through the brick wall. To accomplish this, it was necessary to remove a ponderous desk or book case, which they did, and succeeded in making a hole to the depth probably of two bricks, when for some cause or other the effort was abandoned. The search for money appears to have been very persevering, but none was obtained, nor is any thing else missing. A pitcher which they found in the office had been substituted for a dark lantern, and a candle used by them was placed where it set fire to a piece of wood, but was fortunately extinguished.—Balt. Pat.

POSTAGE REFORM.

We find the following notice in N. Y. Tribune: Cheap and Uniform Postage.—The citizens of New York in favor of a cheap and uniform system of postage, are requested to meet at the Merchants' Exchange on Saturday, the 25th instant, at half past twelve o'clock, to take into consideration the necessity of adopting efficient measures by which this all-important object may be accomplished. All in favor of a reform of the present burdensome and unequal rates of postage are invited to attend.

We do hope that the citizens of other places will take up this subject in like manner. Not another session of Congress should elapse without a radical overhauling of the whole Post Office system.

The editor of the Pennsylvania notices the correspondence which has recently taken place between "some of the Young Whigs of Baltimore" and Mr. Clay, in reference to the flag staff which they wish to procure from Ashland, and tries to be very facetious on the subject. By far the most laughable part of his remarks, however, is that where he says the pole thus obtained, is to be used to support a banner "at some convention which is shortly to be held." At some convention! The editor has never heard of the insignificant Whig convention, which is to assemble in Baltimore in May next. Oh! no, not he.

If the design of the editor was to raise a smile by his remarks, he need not have gone beyond this point, for his affectation is too apparent not to affect the risibilities of his readers most powerfully. We have heretofore had occasion to allude to this assumed indifference of some of our opponents in regard to the preparations which are making for the great "avalanche" of Whigs in Baltimore in May next, while, in fact, they are trembling at the consequences to themselves of that enthusiastic meeting. We would advise our worthy opponents to put off these airs, and act with more candor, for by doing so, if they do not benefit their party more, they will avoid at least making themselves the objects of ridicule and laughter.—Balt. Patriot.

To see Mordecai M. Moah drilling and cautioning the Van Burenites, and James Gordon Bennett praising and flogging the "American Republican" party—isn't it rich? Noah has said more hard things of Van Buren than any other living man, and Bennett—himself foreign-born, and a pretended Catholic, praising up nativeism. Surely, these men deserve the contempt which those they affect to serve so liberally bestow on them!—N. Y. Tribune.

Western Asylum.—There was a very interesting case of discharge from the Western Asylum on Friday—a young wife and mother who had been laboring under insanity from about the time of the birth of her first child, now a year old. The happy husband took her away on Monday, not only perfectly restored in mind, but healthy and blooming as a bride.

Such an incident is calculated to touch the hearts of the most selfish, and awaken increased interest in our noble institution. We do not feel that it would be right, therefore, to pass it over altogether in silence.—Staunton Spectator.

CALL AND EXAMINE FOR YOURSELVES.

To all those who are fond of fine flavoured Havana, I would invite them to call and examine my stock of Imported Cigars, as I am confident they can not fail to please all those who may favor me with a call; they are selected of the very best and most appropriate brands, so there can be no doubt but what they are the best to be found in this city, and will be sold at as low prices for cash. The following are some of the different brands, viz: Anchor, Regalia, and several other brands Britannia, La Norma, Cazadora, Leeshore or Lavueltagera, Canones, Constantia, Nonpareil, Imperial, Castello or Rife, El Desrelo, El Laurel, La Esperanza, Estrella, Colon, Primas Gornas, Pescatore, Trabuca, and Principe of several brands. Also on hand a lot of fine chewing and smoking Tobacco of various kinds, and the most approved Snuffs in use, to all of which he invites the attention of the public before purchasing elsewhere.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Virginia Minstrels once more at Apollo Hall.—It will be seen by reference to the advertisement, that the "Minstrels" have tendered the manager a benefit, which takes place this evening at Apollo Hall; when, in addition to Mr. Jenkins's excellent songs and recitations, the "Washington nigger," who was so well received last night, will again appear in a new Virginia dance. We hope that it may, in fact, be "a benefit."

New Books.—We have received from Gideon Brooke's Periodical Depot, Penn. Avenue, Godey's Lady's Book for December, a splendid number. It contains two engravings by Dick, and two plates of fashions; also the Boys' and Girls' Magazine for December.

Mutilation of Money.—Last Friday afternoon a drover from the Valley of Virginia, having disposed of his live stock, stepped into a broker's office and exchanged his money, being uncurrent in the Old Dominion, for funds that would pass without discount at home. The broker gave him fifties, twenties, and bills of other denominations, in all a thousand dollars, and the drover folded them in a newspaper. The bundle being too large for his pocket-book, he reduced the size by tearing away a portion of the wrapper so as to fit snugly. He threw the pieces carelessly on the floor, and departed in haste in time to reach the boat for Alexandria. The broker in picking up the pieces, discovered that the drover had with the wrapper also torn off one-third of the notes with the signatures, thus rendering them of no use whatever. But the broker has retained the pieces, which, when they are attached to the notes, will make them as good as ever. It is reasonable to suppose that the drover experienced a disappointment when he reached home; but he will be made happy when he again comes to the city, and finds the most essential portion of his treasure in honest hands.

The Lecture of L. A. Gobright, Esq.—Not being as yet initiated into the order of the Sons of Temperance, we in consequence were not present at the delivery of Mr. G.'s lecture. We are informed by one of the order that it was, as we predicted it would be, an eloquent production. The association have, by resolution, requested a copy for publication.

THE AQUEDUCT over the Potomac, at Georgetown, is once more nearly completed, and this time the work has been substantially done. On such extensive public works the "penny wise" is always the "pound foolish" system.

WHEN WILL THE PUBLIC CEASE TO BE HUMBLED?—P. W. BROWNLYN, Merchant Tailor, in opposition to all humbuggers, most respectfully requests members of Congress and strangers visiting the city, not to purchase their clothing before calling to examine his large and superior stock of French and English Cloths, Cassimeres, and Vestings of the latest styles; as he is prepared to prove to them, that he is selling the same article of clothing from 30 to 25 per cent. cheaper than certain dry goods storekeepers that wish to take the trade out of the tailors' hands by holding out false pretences to the public, that they are selling suits of clothes from $10 to $30 cheaper than they can be purchased elsewhere. I want to know how it is possible for any set of men that have no practical knowledge of the business, to sell clothes cheaper than practical tailors—men that know no more about making coats than they know about laying brick—notwithstanding all their arrangements with the celebrated tailors to cut and make their clothes, and their great facilities for buying goods, unless they have a facility for buying without paying for them? I am determined to undersell them, and not to sacrifice my trade to such an avicious set of men until the last dollar is gone! All I ask is for you to call and examine for yourselves.
